Tyson Moeller – Port of Texas City President & Executive Port Director

In his current position, Tyson Moeller is responsible for running the port and rail operations at the Port of Texas City. In previous roles at Union Pacific Railroad he developed Public Private Partnerships in in 10 states including Texas and Louisiana. In other roles at Union Pacific he worked with Ports and customers in the Gulf Region to build rail infrastructure and ensure rail growth. Tyson's experience in the rail industry spans thirty years, and comprises of roles in various business units at Union Pacific Railroad, including industrial products, intermodal, autos, chemicals and network planning. Tyson graduated from the University of Nebraska- Lincoln with a Business degree in Marketing and Management and minored in communication.